Historic Trip Due Before May 1972

Nixon Visit—Giant Step With Peking

PRESIDENTIAL SURPRISE

(UPI Telephoto)

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—In a dramatic announcement, President Nixon disclosed Thursday night he had accepted an invitation from Premier Chou En-lai to visit Red China sometime before next May.

The visit would mark a giant step toward ending the isolation of the world's largest Communist nation and welcoming it back into the international community.

The President told a nationwide radio and television audience that the trip was arranged during a secret visit to Peking last weekend by his chief national security advisor, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

Kissinger, then on a round-the-world trip, was said to have been recuperating from a minor ailment common to travelers in Asia at a mountain resort 50 miles from Islamabad Pakistan, when he actually was in Peking.

"As I have pointed out on a number of occasions over the past three years there can be no stable and enduring peace without the participation of the Peoples Republic of China and its 750 million people," the President said.

"I have taken this action because of my profound conviction that all nations will gain from a reduction of tensions and a better relationship between the United States and the People's Republic of China.

Nixon was scheduled to meet later today with his National Security Council, his top foreign policy forum, to discuss a broad range of diplomatic problems.

Nixon would become the first U.S. President to visit Communist China since the Communist egime was proclaimed on Sept. 21, 1949. The United States has not had diplomatic representation with China since shortly after that time.

The President made the announcement in a terse, three-paragraph statement identical to one issued simultaneously in Peking. It said:

"Premier Chou En-Lai and Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's assistant for national security affairs held talks in Peking from July 9 to 11, 1971.

"Knowing of President Nixon's expressed desire to visit the Peoples Republic of China Premier Chou En-lai has extended an invitation to President Nixon to visit China at an appropriate date before May, 1972. President Nixon has accepted the invitation with pleasure.

"The meeting between the leaders of China and the United States is to seek the normalization of relations between the two countries and also to exchange views on questions of concern to the two sides."

He amplified his reasons for making the move, giving assurances to the Republic of China that its special relationship with the United States would continue to exist.

"Our action in seeking a new relationship with the Peoples Republic of China will not be at the expense of our old friends. It is not directed against any other nations," he said.

"We seek friendly relations with all nations. Any nation can be our friend without being any other nation's enemy."

Chou's invitation and the President's acceptance of it marked in itself a significant movement toward normalization of relations which Nixon has sought for some time. It followed on the heels of several gestures by the President toward Communist China, most significantly his recent decisions to lift trade and travel restrictions.

Although his announcement came as a complete surprise, Nixon had several times earlier expressed a desire to travel in China at some future time.

The World Reaction— Protest, Disbelief, Praise

TOKYO (AP) — Nationalist China lodged a strong protest today against President Nixon's plan to visit Communist China, and a South Korean spokesman termed the trip shocking news. But other Asian allies of the United States approved.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said he hoped the trip "could constitute a first step toward the elaboration of lasting peace for this part of the world." His rival, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, called on South Vietnam "to take adequate and timely measures to protect itself and its national interests."

The report reached the Far East in midmorning and took government officials and the public by surprise. Newspapers rushed out extra editions and anxious callers jammed newspaper switchboards for details.

Nationalist China's ambassador to the United States, James C. Shen, told newsmen in Washington he was not informed of Nixon's plans until about half an hour before the President's broadcast.

His report apparently did not reach Taipei before the news reports, and at the news top officials of President Chiang Kai-shek's regime went into a hurried 45-minute conference. Afterward a spokesman said the government had "lodged a strong protest to the government of the United States."

Nixon's announcement surprised officials and private citizens in staunchly anti-Communist South Korea. A spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said "it was shocking news" but added the government would withhold official comment until it heard from its embassy in Washington.

In Tokyo, the Japanese government termed Nixon's announcement a "very good thing." Acting Foreign Minister Toshio Kimura told newsmen: "We welcome the visit as an improvement of relations between the United States and China." He said his government was informed in advance of Nixon's plans.

Prime Minister Sir Keith Holyoake of New Zealand called Nixon's announcement heartening and said, "I hope this development will give more depth to recent tendencies on the part of China toward more relaxed relations with other countries."

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand, whose country has troops in Vietnam, said Nixon's trip may help bring peace to Southeast Asia.

Sir Leslie Bury of Australia, whose country also has a contingent of troops in Vietnam, said he thinks most nations which don't have relations with Peking will wait to see the outcome of Nixon's visit before "making any other moves regarding relations with the People's Republic of China."

The Philippine government termed the trip "a diplomatic breakthrough that offers decisive implications to international cooperation and world peace beyond this decade."

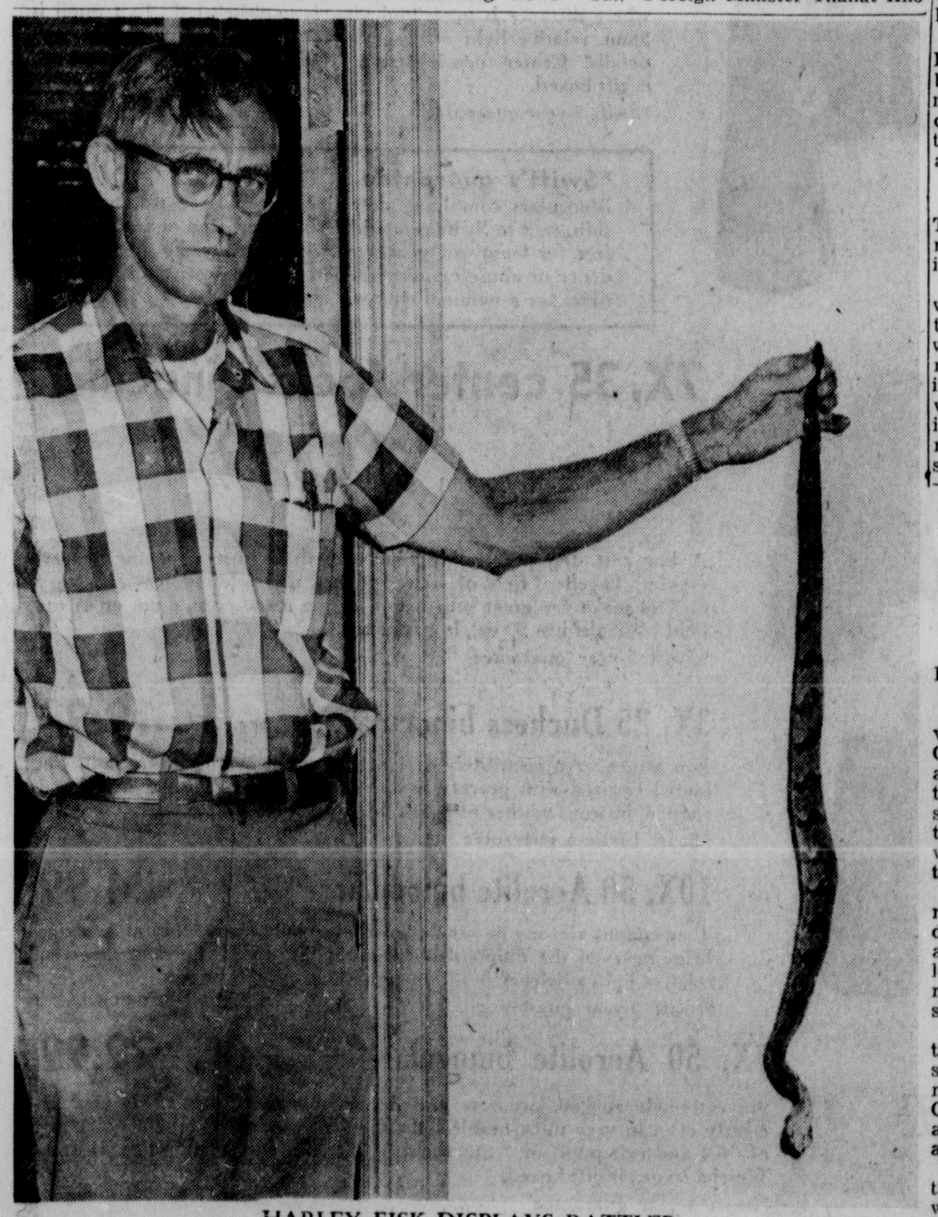

"This is indeed a pleasant surprise," said a spokesman for the Indonesian Foreign Office, "and we hope the visit may be able to help solve some of the world problems especially in this region."

Western diplomats in Hong Kong viewed the visit as the beginning of a new era in U.S.-mainland China relations that could materially reduce world tensions, but they warned against undue optimism.

Outside of Asia—

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said the move "opened a new chapter in the history of international relations."

The British government, which has had diplomatic relations with Peking for years, welcomed Nixon's announcement and said it was informed in advance. "Our own relations with China have been steadily improving for the past 18 months," a Foreign Office spokesman commented.

Kissinger's Mission: Close-Guarded Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Kissinger's clandestine trip to Peking for President Nixon was one of the most closely held secrets in U.S. diplomacy.

While the President's national security-affairs advisor was reported recovering from a stomach indispositon in the mountains of Pakistan July 9-11, in reality he was in China confering with Premier Chou En-lai.

And with all the speculation about what Kissinger was up to during his 12-day 'round-the-world trip, there was none even remotely touching on a visit to China.

The administration is extremely close-mouthed about the Kissinger mission, but it is possible to piece together outlines of the clandestine trip.

On the morning of July 9 it was announced in Pakistan Kissinger had become ill with stomach problems.

He canceled a formal dinner with President Agha Yahya Khan scheduled for that evening and was reported to have gone to the Nathiagali Hill Station little more than 50 miles from Rawalpindi to recover.

However, Kissinger flew from Rawalpindi in his own large jet and Asian diplomats say the hill station cannot receive such large planes. Thus, they indicated, Kissinger left directly for Peking.

Officials here feel only Yahya knew of the trip.

From the 9th to the 11th, a Sunday, Kissinger was reported in the Pakistani mountains. It was announced Saturday he was staying an extra day in Pakistan because of his illness.

In truth, that extra day was spent still in Peking.

Kissinger was next reported to have resumed his schedule late Sunday, flying to Paris for a stopover visit with the American peace-talk delegation. He then returned to the United States for intensive talks with Nixon.

The extreme secrecy marking the China visit carried over until 10:30 p.m. EDT Thursday when Nixon went on the air to tell the nation: "Premier Chou En-lai and Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's assistant for national security affairs, held talks in Peking from July 9 to 11, 1971."

Not even the United States' best friends knew until moments before. Speculation among senior British officials at the embassy here Thursday was that Kissinger may have spent his time in contact with officials of the rebel movement in East Pakistan.

Two Railroads Struck, And More May Follow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Transportation Union struck the Southern Railroad and the Union Pacific today in a dispute over work rules.

A marathon all-night round of negotiations broke off but more talks were arranged for later in the day in Washington.

"The strike is on" said UTU President Charles Luna as union-management talks with federal mediators broke up at 6:25 a.m. EDT—more than 12 hours after they began.

Spokesmen for the two railroads said picket lines went up as planned at 6 a.m. local time as UTU members — brakemen, switchmen, conductors and other train-operating employes refused to work.

About 9,000 members of the union were directly involved in the strike and around 20,000 other union workers refusing to cross picket lines, were also idle. The two railroads have about 19,000 other nonunion workers. Some of them were being assigned to train work.

The railroad industry, which negotiates as a unit, retaliated to the selective strike by imposing work rules even more stringent than those it has proposed in the negotiations. Under the carriers' action, a spokesman acknowledged that many jobs would be eliminated. John A. Volpe said after the all-night bargaining session at the Labor Department that "we believe the issues were clarified and narrowed."

While no specific time was set for further negotiations, Volpe said there would be "more talking over the weekend."

William J. Usery Jr., an assistant labor secretary who has been the chief federal mediator in the dispute, said of the strike: "We don't know how long it will last. We hope we can get this settled before it spreads."

The UTU, only one of the major rail unions that has not come to terms with the railroads since Congress last spring imposed a moratorium until Oct. 1 on any nationwide strike or shutdown, has threatened to strike a few more railroads next Friday.

The union won legal sanction —going up to the Supreme Court—to call selective strikes which rail management contends are aimed at whipsawing various lines until all give in to union demands. Management resorted to imposition of tough work rules as a counter tactic.

The UTU urged members to observe the work rule changes temporarily rather than striking against them, lest the dispute might wind up again in Congress—and with a new emergency law to force an end to a strike.

Drought Drives Them Down

Three Rattlesnakes Killed in Area

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Employes of the Soil Conservation Service here in Ulster County all carry snake bite kits and perhaps it's a good thing they do for Harley R. Fisk, conservation aide, found and killed three deadly rattlesnakes this week in the Kerhonkson area of the county.

Dry weather in the mountains reportedly is driving the snakes down out of the hills to wetter areas and one sign in the Overlook Mountain area, constructed recently, warns "watch out for snakes!"

The greatest rattlesnake activity in the county is along the southern and eastern escarpment from behind the Village of Catskill to Phoenicia with notable dens on Overlook Mountain and Mt. Tremper.

Fisk found the rattlesnakes on three different occasions while working on the building of ponds on the Louis Wintermeyer property on Cherrytown Road off Mill Brook Creek in the Mombaccus area.

One was found in a swamp being cleaned for a pond, one along the roadside leading to it and the third in the road.

Admitting he "is not much of a snake fan", Fisk clubbed all three to death.

Francis E. Mulvaney, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said that finding the rattlesnakes in the lower country is rare in that they usually do not come down that far out of the mountains.

Nevertheless, all the men in his department have been trained in dealing with snakes "just in case." He said he personally has only seen three rattlesnakes in New York State during his career.

Fred Ford, regional wildlife manager for the New York State Conservation Department, cautioned that there is no need for anyone to be alarmed and that "the chances of being bitten fatally in Ulster County are one in 300 million."

"They'il leave you alone, if you leave them (rattlesnakes) alone," Peter Monfort of the Monfort Reptile Institute in Rhinebeck told The Freeman. "They are very afraid of people." If bitten, he suggests that the victim apply a constricting band, not a torniquet, between the bite and the heart until he can reach a hospital for anti-venom.

Copperhead activity in the Rifton area was also reported this week by field men employed by Brinnier and Larios, consulting engineers, who found them slithering out from trees.

Rattlesnakes are more dangerous than copperheads, however, and because of its prominent and conspicuous rattle, can hardly be confused with any other species in this locality.

Timber rattlesnakes have black or dark brown chevron-shaped crossbands down their backs on a ground color of either bright yellow or blackish-brown. Occasionally specimens are plain black. But despite the snake's colors and markings, the snake's rattle is by far its most obvious identifying feature.

Heavily forested elevations of abundant ledges, cliffs and stone outcroppings are the rattlesnakes preferred living quarters. A secretive snake which normally avoids human disturbances, it chooses its home sites where south facing slopes provide protected, frost-free dens for hibernating purposes.

The rattlesnake usually seeks protection when encountered. But, like many other snakes, it can be easily provoked. When molested, it rattles to warn intruders, but if stepped upon or surprised, it strikes first. However, even if given plenty of opportunity to do so, rattlesnakes do not always give a warning before they strike.

Tape Recorder Irks Schovel

By LYNN MULVANEY

SAUGERTIES

A heated discussion over the use of a tape recorder at a special meeting of the Saugerties Town Board Thursday night forced Supervisor A. Michael Schovel to adjourn the meeting six minutes after it opened.

The meeting, attended by about 100 persons, was called by Schovel so that the board might pass a new building code law.

The supervisor told the code enforcement dissenters that they could take notes, that he would talk slowly and repeat anything they wanted to hear but that he did not think the recorder was necessary or legal. "The use of a tape can work two ways," he told The Freeman today. "Words can be spliced in or out."

Recalling that a public hearing on the proposal was held early in 1969, Schovel said he would now set another date for a special meeting to act on the new code at a time and place to be announced.

Of the dissenters themselves, the supervisor suggested that "They don't want a building code period." He said that they did not attend the 1969 public hearing and only began to complain about the new law about three or four weeks ago. He said he asked Gilbert Trnka, one of the objectors, to make a list of items he found difficult to adhere to in the code and submit them to the board for consideration.

Mrs. Trnka told The Freeman that last night's meeting was "open to the public but not open to discussion." She quoted Schovel as saying that the 1969 public hearing was not representative because it was attended by only 25 persons.

If it was not representative then why is the board now trying to pass the law on the strength of that meeting? she asked.

Mrs. Trnka also questioned whether the use of a tape recorder at a meeting is unlawful.

Schovel said today he is going to check with the town attorney to find out the specifics with regard to the law.

Mrs. Trnka claimed today that many of the 100 persons in attendance at the meeting expressed "strong dissent" for the new code while Schovel said he felt the dissenters were small in number. He said he wanted to apologize to the many people who came out to the meeting, adding that he would select a larger meeting hall for the next gathering.

Mrs. Trnka explained that among a number of provisions in the proposed law to which she and others are taking exception is one which would allow any building official, with proper credentials, to enter any building.

"This is in direct opposition to the Bill of Rights," she said. "You have to have a warrant stating what you are looking for."

She said she and her husband now have an increased animal population and want to build a hay shed for them. Under the new code, she explained, we would have to hire an architect and get a permit.

Mrs. Trnka also objects to the board's having allowed pamphlets to be printed explaining the code when "it isn't even a law yet."

She said she and others favor a referendum on the proposal but it is only permissible if the town board votes to allow it.

Largest Obscenity Crackdown In City, Claim Authorities

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

A police raid at the Midtown Book Shop at 670 Broadway on Thursday, which resulted in the arrest of the store proprietor and an employe and the seizure of a large quantity of pornographic material, was the largest crackdown on obscenity made in Kingston, according to authorities.

The crackdown climaxed an intensive investigation by Acting Police Chief Julius Glassman and Detectives Joseph Feraca and Albert Hutton and Assistant District Attorney Albert Hrdlicka.

The defendants taken into custody on the obscenity counts were Charles Soltys, 29, of Box 58, and Daniel Villa LoBos, 26, of Route 4, Box 103, both of Lake Katrine.

The two men were held in $1,000 bail for arraignment today before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

Glassman said the store, which opened for business a few months ago, had been under close surveillance by police the last several days. A search warrant was obtained from City Court and before noon yesterday the raid was staged by Feraca and Hutton assisted by men from the uniformed division.

Seven large cardboard cartons were used to cart away the materials seized.

According to the inventory the articles confiscated and impounded until disposition of the charges against Soltys and Villa LoBos, included 234 rolls of film, 85 playing cards with photos, 56 other picture-type playing cards measuring 20 by 14 inches, 60 assorted brands of smut magazines, 24 sex oriented newspapers, and many other implements of plastic and rubber as well as picture puzzles.

Investigation is being continued by police, an official said.

Acute Problem in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

The landfill problem in Ellenville is becoming acute.

It is becoming so acute that at the recent village board meeting Trustee David Kramer suggested the town of Wawarsing be required to aid more in the running of the dump, or get out.

The town uses the village landfill on a contract basis. However, the contract ran out in March 1970. Wawarsing Town Supervisor Frank W. Harkin said no one from the village ever came to him to renew it.

Harkin said he did not concern himself too much with the lack of a formal contract as he felt the town would have its own landfill by this time.

The town has examined a number of sites, but Harkin said they ran into problems of accessibility, right of way, or local opposition at each site.

Harkin told The Freeman he make take the novel step of advertising for a new site. He felt some property owners may have a suitable area available but are not aware of the town's need.

Village Manager Lawrence E. Eyres was directed by the village board of trustees to arrange a meeting with the Wawarsing Town Board on the landfill question, and he told the Freeman the letter was to be sent out Thursday to Harkin to arrange the meeting.

Harkin said he did not think it would be right for the village to throw the town out of the landfill at this "critical time." He felt the town might be willing to consider paying more for its landfill use.

Harkin said he will call in Town Engineer Aaron Horowitz and go over all available maps to try to locate some suitable land for the landfill.

The situation is getting so bad it may cause the town board to think the unthinkable. They may consider the possibility of a joint venture in the landfill business with another township, Harkin said. The town board has in the past indicated it wanted the control that went with having its own landfill. The exigencies of the situation may make that impossible.

Stockade Ordinance Approved

KINGSTON

The Kingston Landmarks Commission Thursday approved the proposed and much revised Stockade Ordinance for preservation of the historic area of uptown Kingston.

After a word by word study, the commission by majority vote sent the Stockade proposal to the Common Council Laws and Rules committee with a recommendation for favorable consideration of the measure as a city ordinance. It was noted that the law would be very valuable in preserving Kingston's heritage.

The Stockade Law has been under study and extensive revision for two years with the present document taking a year to draft in its current form.

Several properties, including city hall, have been under study as possible nominees for Landmarks Designation by the commission. Evaluation is continuing on preservation of the old city hall with possible use by agencies as office facilities. No action was taken at the Landmarks Commission meeting last night. However, studies are continuing.

Legislature Sets Session On UCCC Budget

KINGSTON

A special session of the Ulster County Legislature has been called for the night of July 22 on the fifth floor of the County Office Building to act on the proposed $3.2 million budget for 1971-72.

The meeting, for which no definite time as has been set, will follow a 7:30 p.m. public hearing on the budget.

The budget, which has been termed "modest" by College President Dr. George B. Erbstein, was presented the Legislature Tuesday night at another special session of the Legislature.

The total budget recommended by the College Board of Trustees is $3,249,628 compared to $2,831,016 for 1970-71.

Although the tentative budget is up $418,612, it is down a similar amount from that requested by the college's various departments.

Fed Ups the Discount Rate, Setback for Administrati on WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Reserve Board tightened the nation's basic money and credit policy Thursday in an effort to fight inflation that continues to plague the economy.

The action by the independent seven-member board is a setback for President Nixon's economic policies, which have counted on continued easy money to push a recovery from last year's recession.

The board Thursday increased its discount rate—the interest Federal Reserve Banks charge for loans to commercial banks—from 4¾ to 5 per cent. In its official three-paragraph announcement, the board said the boost showed its "concern over continuation of substantial cost-push inflation in the economy."

Fed Chairman Arthur F. Burns has been urging Nixon to combat cost-push inflation—where higher wages and prices keep bringing more of the same—by appointing a wage-price review board or adopting some other form of "incomes policy."

"If we are to restore price stability with high employment in our economy, I see no immediate alternative to a cogent incomes policy," Burns said in testimony before the House-Senate Economic Committee two weeks ago.

Incomes policy is a broad term covering most direct government action against inflation ranging from mandatory wage-price controls to calls for voluntary restraint. It contrasts with efforts to fight inflation by austere federal budgeting or by tight money.

Burns, Nixon's only appointee on the board, argues that an incomes policy could give the administration more latitude to bring the economy back to full employment without risking more inflation.

Nixon consistently has rebuffed Burns' proposals. By boosting the discount rate, the Fed took its own anti-inflation action.

The Fed's move drew criticism from Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee. He called the move "an unnecessary encouragement to higher interest rates."

August Draft Lottery Sure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says the 1972 draft lottery, postponed once because of congressional delay in extending the draft act, will be held next month—law or no law.

"We think it's important to have the lottery because the kids are anxious to know what their numbers are," a Selective Service spokesman said Thursday. "We don't know when Congress is going to act and that's why we're going ahead with it."

Aug. 5 tentatively has been set for the lottery to determine the order in which young men will be drafted into the Army in 1972.

Originally scheduled for July 1, the lottery was postponed after House-Senate conferees deadlocked over legislation to extend the draft act two years.

The stalemate is over an amendment calling for a U.S. pullout from Vietnam within nine months after Hanoi agrees to release American prisoners of war.

At the time the deadlock developed, a Selective Service spokesman said Draft Director Curtis Tarr could have held the lottery as scheduled but did not want to appear acting without approval from Congress.

Tarr now apparently has decided to go ahead, since there are indications Congress may not reach a compromise until the fall.

A spokesman said it wouldn't be fair to wait any longer for the thousands of young men who want to make plans with a new school year drawing near.

Although Selective Service will go ahead with the lottery, the June 30 expiration of the draft act has forced a delay in calling up 16,000 men requested by the Defense Department for the Army in July and August.

School Desegregation Costs... A Snag

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal to help schools meet desegregation costs has been caught in a new snag by efforts in the House Education and Labor Committee to expand it into a general school-aid bill.

The bill was on the verge of approval by a subcommittee Thursday when Rep. William D. Ford, D-Mich., offered a substitute to make it part of a $6.8 billion general aid measure.

Although it appeared Ford had enough votes to have his bill approved, the subcommittee adjourned without acting in order to give members more time to study it. Chairman Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said he will try to get a vote early next week.

Rep. Albert H. Quie of Minnesota, senior Republican on the committee, bitterly opposed the Ford bill and accused the Democrats of using it to try to kill the desegregation proposal.

Nixon asked Congress more than a year ago for $1.5 billion in emergency desegregation aid but the request has been involved in controversy in both the House and Senate ever since.

The Senate passed a much broader version than Nixon requested last April, and after much prodding by the administration Pucinski's subcommittee took it up last week.

The subcommittee had tentatively approved a narrower version than the Senate bill and only a final vote on the measure was needed when Ford offered his substitute.

Ford's bill would include all provisions of the desegregation measure as approved by the subcommittee. But it would add $5.3 billion in general aid to help every school district in the country improve the quality of education.

The money authorized by the Ford bill would supplement existing elementary and secondary school aid, which now totals about $3 billion.

Ford picked up powerful support for his bill from Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., ranking committee Democrat and one of the most influential House members on education matters.

Mrs. Green called the administration bill "a superficial approach" to the problem and said it would result mainly in enriching bus companies through transportation of pupils to achieve court-ordered desegregation.

Horse Disease—Fears in Oklahoma

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI — Swarms of mosquitoes and biting flies carried an epidemic of horse-killing sleeping sickness northward through Texas today, and Oklahoma officials said they fear it has already reached their state.

The disease, which has raced through Mexico and into Texas killing at least 6,000 horses and hospitalizing more than 1,000 persons, marched on despite massive innoculations and insecticide spraying.

"We're at war," said Mexican President Luis Echeverria. He toured disease-ravaged northern Mexico and invited the United States to join a campaign to stop the illness.

In Washington, State Department sources said unofficially Mexico contacted them Thursday and the two countries agreed to set up a meeting.

Meanwhile the U.S. Senate approved a measure to pump $1 million into Texas to help fight the disease. The proposal now faces House action.

A federal quarantine on the estimated 400,000 horses in Texas remained in effect, and state police helped enforce a state restriction barring movement of horses between counties.

States across the country banned Texas horses from their borders, including California, Georgia, Michigan, Utah, Arizona and all states bordering Texas.

Most of the harm was caused on the Mexican side of the border, but horses in south Texas dropped dead by the hundreds.

Unofficial sources said at last 500 horses in the lower Rio Grande Valley suffered from the disease. Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis. Doctors say it kills 80 per cent of infected horses, but is only about as serious as the flu when it strikes humans.

Family at Odds Over Son's Long Locks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My father and brother are having a go-around about my brother's hair. Sam is 18 and wears his hair below his collar. My father says he is going to buy him some ribbons and curlers if he doesn't get it cut. He's not kidding. (Yesterday he gave him a hairbrush with jewels on it.)

They've always gotten along so well until this hair business came up. My brother works after school and on weekends, so I told Dad to lay off and pretty soon Sam's boss will tell him to cut it, and in the meantime let Sam go thru this stage and get it out of his system. When I was my brother's age I teased my hair into a beehive until I realized how ridiculous I looked.

What can you advise fathers who have sons who like long hair? SAM'S SISTER

DEAR SISTER: To paraphrase a columnist who said it beautifully: "If Jesus returned today, He would probably be stopped, searched and carted off to the precinct station by the first cop who spotted Him. Shoulder length hair, bearded, with sandals, a dropout from school, hanging around with dubious characters and a notorious frequenter of low places, what chance would He have today? Even less than the Romans gave Him.

"I am convinced that our antihair phobia is in some mysterious, but deeply-fixed way connected with the Bible and religion; that it serves as an unconscious reminder of the way we have lost, the message we have ignored. Nothing less than this can explain the ugly and irrational rejection and contempt we express for the ancient tresses."

DEAR ABBY: We are about to have our first litter of Abyssinian kittens and with your permission we would like them to be officially named "Dear Abys." Have you any objections? Please hurry your reply as the event is expected soon.

MRS. B. R. S., Downey, Cal.

DEAR MRS. B. R. S.: I have had baby girls (Abigails), baby boys (Abners), race horses, greyhound dogs, parakeets, white mice and even a baby ape named after me. So, be my guest and call your Abyssinian kittens "Dear Abys." I think it's the cat's meow!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My suggestion to that woman whose friends call her early in the morning when they know she likes to sleep late: Call THEM late at night when you think they are asleep, and repeat their exact words: "Oh, did I wake you up?" It works!

MILDRED in Muscatine, Ia.

DEAR MILDRED: It will also help you to lose friends and alienate people.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to shotgun weddings in order to give the child a name: In Illinois, all that is required is the father's signature on the birth certificate and the child can legally use his father's name. No marriage is required. Since this is the reason a lot of kids marry when they know from the start it's a mistake that will never work out, I thought I would mention it. K.N.B.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think it is extremely rude to ask a 40-year-old bachelor why he has never married?

FRISCO

DEAR FRISCO: Yes. Especially if you think you know.

Chinese Beef And Peppers

Two and one-half tablespoons cornstarch
One-quarter cup water
Three pounds top round or sirloin (cut into very thin strips)
Three cloves garlic, minced
One teaspoon powdered ginger
Two cups of chicken stock (bouillon cubes may be used)
One teaspoon salt
Four tablespoons sherry
Three green peppers, cut into julienne strips
One onion, chopped
Eight or ten green onions, cut into one inch diagonally cut pieces (use greens too)
Two carrots, sliced diagonally very thin
Two tomatoes cut into small wedges
One teaspoon sugar
Three-quarter cup of salad or peanut oil
One-quarter teaspoon pepper

Mix cornstarch and water to a smooth paste. Combine this mixture with strips of meat, garlic and ginger. Heat half the oil in a heavy skillet and add the meat mixture. Cook for five minutes over HIGH heat, stirring constantly. Remove the meat.

Reduce the heat to medium and add vegetables in the rest of the oil. Cook for two to five minutes. Keep vegetables crisp, do not overcook. Add the stock, sugar, salt, pepper and sherry stirring constantly and cook for three minutes. Add the meat and cook for two or three minutes. It is important to cook as directed and serve immediately over hot boiled rice. Delicious!!

If necessary, you may add a bit more cornstarch paste to chicken gravy. Also a helpful hint—cut your beef when not quite defrosted, it slices easily and thin.

Local Cooperation

At times, when the refreshing air of real cooperation is evidenced it's akin to a cool breeze on a hot summer night.

We in Ulster have witnessed a rare example of this with the announcement that the Hudson Cement Company in Kingston and Coalite of Saugerties have agreed to spend approximately $2.5 million for pollution control equipment.

These local companies, according to the state's Department of Environmental Conservation, will be able to achieve 1980 pollution standards by as soon as 1972.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell has pointed out that the companies could have gone to the courts to fight the state's directive to clean up their emissions, and such a court fight could have dragged on for years.

Instead, through the true use of collective bargaining, the two firms and the state have reached a reasonable conclusion—and the air around Kingston will be better for it.

States Cut Welfare

Responding to a taxpayer revolt against welfare and its growing financial burden, at least 10 states and perhaps more are reducing welfare benefits this year. They are reversing a long time trend of higher assistance benefits for the poor.

The reason, one welfare specialist points out, is that the states have run out of money and are looking for ways to cut back. That has been more or less true for a number of years. It has contributed to the low financial condition of many states.

Cutbacks take various forms—dropping thousands of families, eliminating the unemployed program, dropping of other welfare items, and a cut in maintenance payments.

Perhaps the most publicized welfare cut-back is that proposed by California Gov. Ronald Reagan. He wants employable welfare recipients, including mothers, to accept public service jobs as a grant condition—so-called work relief. The White House is resisting on the ground that the plan violates the legal and ethical principle that welfare is a right, not a gift.

It is because of this principle that millions not only are receiving welfare, but their demands have brought many states to the brink of disaster. The Nixon family assistance plan, with work or training for employable heads of families, aims to reduce the inequities in welfare as it is dispensed today.

10,000 Pollution Deaths

A six-year study by Albert Einstein University professors on mortality rates in New York City concluded that 10,000 deaths a year would not have occurred had there not been air pollution in the period between 1963 and 1968. That should bring home the cost of pollution.

"DEAFENING SOUND"—Rock music causes temporary loss of hearing for the audience and often permanent hearing damage for the musicians, according to Dr. William Plotkin, executive director of the Chicago Hearing Society. Most rock music rates about 120 decibels. Anything over 85 is rated damaging.

A SOLOMONIC DECISION—Bradley H. Salzwedel, 27, and his wife, Marcia, 24, are music teachers in Milwaukee. When they were divorced, Judge Maurice M. Spracker called who gets the piano "the real issue in the case." He awarded it to Marcia because, he said, "She had to get something for two years of marriage."

Early morning drug raids produce an unlooked for bonus. Heroin addicts in unprecedented numbers besieged the Prince George's county health department in Maryland for methadone, the synthetic heroin substitute. A drying up of sources of heroin brings addicts crying for methadone treatment.

More Secret Papers in Archives

WASHINGTON — While the uproar continues over publication of the top-secret Pentagon Papers on Vietnam, we have learned that there are a dozen or more similar reports dealing with every major U.S. foreign policy crisis since the 1950s.

They contain a wealth of fresh information of great relevance to U.S. foreign policy today, reportedly including the fact that the U.S. came perilously close to nuclear warfare during the struggle over Quemoy and Matsu islands off China between 1958 and 1960.

The documents, known as the "Critical Incident Studies," remain buried in Pentagon vaults. Their existence was known until now to only a handful of officials and the historians who prepared them.

The reports were made under the aegis of the Defense Department's Weapons System Evaluation Group, a division of the Secretary's office, for the benefit of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

We have confirmed the existence of the studies and obtained information on their content from one former Defense official who has read most of them and from another who worked on at least one of them. Both asked not to be named.

Blunders Included

The idea was that by a meticulous, minute-by-minute analysis of the military command's handling of major crises, lessons would be learned on how to improve communications and otherwise prepare for future emergencies.

The reason the studies have been kept so secret is that they record every detail of the events under scrutiny, including the blunders, confusions and salty quotations of the highest officers in the military.

Therefore it was agreed at the outset that, although the men doing the reports were technically under the Secretary of Defense's office, the documents would be strictly under the control of the Joint Chiefs.

One historian who worked on the series of studies said the unusual secrecy agreement was necessary or the Joint Chiefs would never have allowed them access to the War Room and the required documents.

As he told my associate Brit Hume, "You have people's careers in your hands and to do an objective job, you need access. If you didn't have confidentiality, you wouldn't have access."

The following subjects are included among the dozen or so reports:

Ticklish Topics

U.S. Operations in Laos, 1959-61; several studies of the Cuban Crisis; the Berlin Crisis; the Dominican emergency of 1965; the unheaval in the Congo in 1960; the U.S. intervention in Lebanon in 1958; the Quemoy-Matsu episode between 1958 and 1960 and the Suez crisis of 1956.

Recently, one of this series of studies was made available to Congress. This is the report on the Gulf of Tonkin episode which was sent to Capitol Hill along with the full Vietnam War study.

However, there has been no public indication until now that this report was anything other than a special study rather than part of a series.

Moreover, Daniel Ellsberg, the man who says he leaked the Vietnam study to newspapers, said here last week that the Joint Chiefs tried frantically to keep the Tonkin study from former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara because it contained transcriptions of his phone conservations with the military command.

What's more, one of our sources said he was told by a member of the Joint Chiefs that if word of the existence of the studies ever got out, they would immediatly be burned to prevent their embarrassing contents from becoming known.

While this might seem implausible, our source said he had no doubt of this general's sincerity.

He pointed out, however, that most of the embarrassing detail was included in appendixes apart from the main body of the text. He said these could easily be held back even if the meat of the material were made public.

Secret Santayana

The Pentagon's rules for classifying documents are only crazy to the non-military mind. For example, in the personnel file of an Air Force scientsist named Ken Cook, who was retired for dubious grounds, there is a sheaf marked "For Official Use Only, Confidential Handling Required."

One of these highly secret documents is a quotation from Spanish philosopher George Santayana which has been printed around the world. Cook had sent it to his boss.

The printed quotation which the Pentagon sought to classify out of existence reads, "Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it."

The security stamp would be merely ridiculous if it were not also symbolic. For Santayana, a great modern philosopher, had many of his books banned by totalitarian regimes.

Possibility of Tax Cut

WASHINGTON—Any effort to describe the economic condition of the country today requires a careful selection of words from the vocabulary of economic terminology. Some statisticians who are familiar with business surveys call it a "creeping recovery" that is supposed to be on the way, as they declare that 'slow progress" is being made, though there are signs of a "moving up."

All in all, it is clear that the results so far are less than what were hoped for or estimated in January. Yet there is a satisfaction that the business trend has encouraging symptoms. Thus, for instance, retail sales in June rose 8 per cent over a year earlier. Even with the higher prices this can be reckoned as a 4.3 per cent gain in quantity. Unemployment last monh went down from 6.2 per cent to 5.6 per cent of the civilian labor force.

The latest word on industrial production, which the Federal Reserve Board has just issued, shows an increase in June, though the index figure remains 3.8 per cent below the peak that was recorded in July 1969, which was before the long slide began. The index, however, is only 0.5 per cent below its level of August 1969 the last month before the auto strike produced a sharp drop in industrial output.

The new data reveal that the production of television sets, furniture, some appliances and consumer staples increased in June, whereas industrial and commercial equipment decreased. Steelmaking went down last month, apparently because stockpiling in advance of the threatened strike had been completed. It is expected there will be further declines in steel during the rest of the summer, whether or not there is a strike, as heavy inventories have been built up.

The significance of the figures is that the economy isn't exactly stagnant but isn't making rapid progress, either. The indications are that, while some parts of the business structure are faring better than others, recession as a whole hasn't been cured and inflation hasn't been curbed.

Talk still goes on here as to what President Nixon will do about the situation. Will he ask Congress to put into effect earlier some of the tax cuts that are scheduled to start next year? Certainly any such move would stimulate buying by consumers and increase the demand for many products. Also, any changes in the tax laws which give business a chance to get the benefit of lower rates would mean that more capital would be available. It would be especially helpful to small enterprises. All this would be advantageous in a broad sense to business and industry. The general expectation is that sometime between now and the end of 1971 some form of tax reduction will be requested of Congress by the President in the hope that business can be improved.

The Administration is confronted, too with the problem of job creation, particularly for the veterans of the Vietnam War who on returning to the United States have been finding it difficult to get employment. Special efforts unquestionably will be made to take care of the men released from military service, these steps may mean public funds for certain industries in connection with their programs of expansion.

There is no doubt that during the next six months, the administration will try to accelerate the progress of the economy so that unemployment figures will be cut down and the business of the country will be given a chance to restore profits.

Congress is not likely to obstruct plans to help the economy to recover. After all, in the political campaign ahead in 1972, the Democrats, who will have had control of both Houses for four years, will have to shoulder the principal responsibility for what happens in the legislative branch of the government.

President Nixon, who will have had an opposition party in the majority in Congress throughout his first term, has had many measures buried in committees, and other have been voted down by one house or the other or in conference. While there have been Republican votes to assist the Democrats at times, the fact remains that a Republican president will be able to claim that on many problems with which he was confronted have been inherited from previous administrations and he has not been given an opportunity to deal with them effectively.

A 'New' World in an Old Eden

The road drops gently out of Wailuku, heading south toward Maalaea Bay with the tall sugar cane waving hello and goodbye in the steady stiff breeze and then it curves around the bay and that huge dead volcano is always on the left, moving along with the car. Haleakala is 30 miles of lion-mane slopes and when the road ends and the potholes and rocks dot the trail, that mountain is still watching.

After that, it is like driving under pale green lace and the passengers hang onto anything. This is the only way you can make Makena, where the flower children dream. There are 90 of them, living sometimes nude on the long curving granulated beach, sometimes in torn jeans and worn sandals and blouses.

They sit under a tree where the beach crests, facing away from the water. There are 70 men, 20 women, a fruit bowl of children. There are beards and breasts and they huddle close, hands cuffed around knees, lying flat, or kissing.

There are long silences. Then someone says something or a girl giggles and a torrent of words cascades like a clear waterfall of sound and the silence comes again. These are Americans who have come to the Hawaiian island of Maui to live. These are not hippies because hippies are cynical and, in numbers, violent.

Three years ago, a young American war veteran drove down the rutted corduroy trail and made a left turn at Makena and saw the long, long curving beach and the black walls of cold lava enclosing it. He wrote home for money. Then another one came, and another. Then the women and little ones.

Makena is private property. The flower children were told to get off. They crept away. Then they came back. They crouched like curious monkeys, looking out to sea where the trade wind lifts the white feathers off the waves. They could see little Molokini and, farther off, the big chocolate edges of Lua Makika.

They break and run when they see strangers. A nude woman comes up from the edge of the sea and turns her back and draws the dirty jeans up slowly. A three-year-old girl with matted hair and Mary Janes stands still, a thumb in her mouth. The old one, the one who used to be a preacher, takes a jug covered with canvas and tilts it against his blue lower lip.

The others endure him. There is cold wine in the jug but there are two cubes of sugar in the bottom. The old one does not know that he about to go on a big trip. The young men in the brown beads with the sky-blue eyes laugh at him.

Most of the young women stay with one man. A few move from pad to pad, sleeping in a hollow in the sand, or high on a lava rock under a rusty corrugated roof held up by four saplings and heavy ship lines. They plan to start a new world here. Eden, perhaps. The apple is LSD.

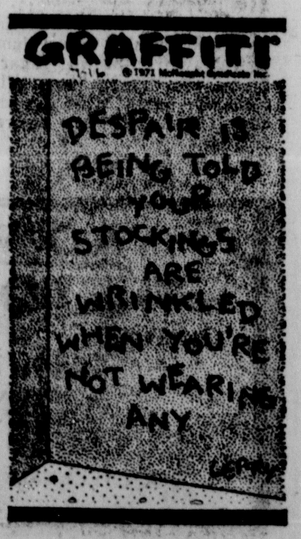

The men nod solemnly and say that if you have never been on a trip, man, you have never been anywhere. They are innocent of guilt, and they do their "thing" casually. They are up with the sun, and go to bed with it. No radio, no TV, no electricity, no gas. Just the sea, the bright buttered sun, the soughing of the wind and Haleakala watching from 10,205 feet.

The Vietnam vet who lost his arm wiggles the stump and speaks of writing poetry. The young girl with the enticing figure and the salt in her hair says: "Well, it's food stamps, he goes into town all the way on foot and he shares with everybody."

Somebody's "Mom" sends money from Ohio. The envelope is slit, the check falls out, the letter remains unread. "How about giving us money for a case of cold beer?" someone says. It comes to $5.50. You give $7. They laugh and punch their fists into the sand.

There is no new world. No pure communism. The flower children cannot bear to go home. If Makena is Eden, no one would need LSD to fly away from it. These are the lost ones, as gentle as an orchid against the cheek. There is no way back; no way forward. They eat fish and fruit and make love and dream.

Seventy-five miles away, on Molokai, 200 older people sit on porches, staring at the same sea, listening to the same wind. Their faces look as though they had been put together with a putty knife. Lepers. They, too, have made a new world. They made their last trip long ago . . .

Conflicting Reports Issued On Bell Telephone Strike

KINGSTON

Area union and management reports differed slightly today as the Communications Workers of America strike against the New York Telephone Company entered its third day.

Arthur Roy, public relations manager for the phone company, reports "no change" in working or service conditions.

"As far as I can see, there hasn't been any significant change since yesterday," Roy told The Freeman today. "The plant is out, some commercial workers are out, but it's spotty throughout. No customer service has been hampered and we have experienced no vandalism. The status quo remains the same," concluded Roy.

While area service hasn't suffered as yet from the strike, reports seem to indicate that this is a possibility if the walkout continues for any length of time.

Robert Smith, President of the Communications Workers of America, Local 1120, stated: "Contrary to other reports, we have 100 per cent of the membership behind us and morale is very high. The picket lines are up in all of the five major areas, including Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Catskill and Monticello. And many other people, including clerical help and operators, are joining us in increasing numbesrs," he stated.

Smith continued, "For example, some operators out of the Kingston office, 40 to 60 of them, have honored our picket lines.

Area Police Nab Two Men For Possession of Drugs

RHINEBECK

A 21-year-old Orange County man was arrested at 3 a.m. today on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs—marijuana—a Class C felony, and criminal possession of a narcotics implement—a pipe—a misdemeanor.

Robert Schelhammer of Salisbury Mills, had in his possession five ounces of marijuana in addition to the pipe, according to Troopers T. F. Salmon and B. W. Schaller of the Rhinebeck State Police, who took the youth in custody during a routine traffic check on Route 199 in this township.

Schelhammer was taken before Town Justice Herman Tietjen. He pleaded innocent and was committed to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of $9,000 bail. Preliminary hearing was adjourned until Saturday.

Another drugs arrest was made Thursday night by Highland State Police. They took Luiz Cruz, 24, of Gardiner, in custody after they found him in a building on the Old Post Road in the Town of New Paltz. Cruz reportedly had an LSD tablet on his person when arrested.

Cruz was taken before Town Justice Rexford Schneider. He pleaded innocent to charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs sixth degree and criminal trespass second degree. Judge Schneider committed the defendant to the Ulster County jail in lieu of $500 and adjourned hearing until July 23.

Candy in Bars, Boxes Contaminated by Rodents

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Thursday disclosed that 204,000 candy bars and 7,100 boxes of candy, most of which already has been sold and presumably eaten were contaminated with rodents and insects.

The candy bars were Necco twin bolster chocolate covered peanut bars, lots 9008c 9008d, 901a, 9010c 9004b and 9012bn the FDA said. The boxed candy was King's pecan butter crunch, lot 1162 and Kathryn Kong's Rose Box Assorted Chocolates, lot 1011.

The FDA said it tested the candy after finding "minor" contamination in both factories. The companies then recalled the candy from warehouses and stores.

But King Candy Co., Fort Worth, Tex., maker of the boxed candy said all 7,100 boxes had been sold and presumably eaten. The New England Confectionery Co., Inc., Cambridge Mass., manufacturer of Necco told FDA it quarantined 13,584 bars at the warehouses. The FDA said the remaining 190,416 bars were sold.

A spokesman said FDA inspectors cleared other lots of both brands as safe, and were monitoring production to prevent shipment of more contaminated candy.

Saugerties Sets Project SCRAP For Recycling

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties Citizens Rallying Against Pollution announced today the creation of a continuing recycling project in the Saugerties area.

Louis Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Solid Waste Committee, asks that Saugerties area residents begin saving all glass containers, aluminum cans (those having no seams) and newspapers.

All such items may be brought to the recycling depository, Saturday, July 17, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at Discount Beverages, Rt. 9W, near Simmons Plaza.

In order to aid in the processing of the materials, residents are asked to remove all metal rings from glass containers which should be reasonably clean and unbroken. Magazines and newspapers should be separated and tied in bundles.

SCRAP will hold a recycling day every two weeks beginning Saturday.

Insurance Law Originated Here

KINGSTON — A bill, which originated out of the Colonial Insurance Company, 68 Main Street, has been signed into law by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, according to Kenneth P. Pangburn, president of Colonial. It was sponsored by member companies of the New York State Mutual Insurance Association.

Pangburn explained that approximately two years ago a law was passed that insurance companies would have to provide an insurance market in urban areas. Insurance companies were not writing in these areas because of the riot and crime exposure. The law created an association called the New York Property Insurance Underwriting Association which is made up of all the insurance companies in the State of New York. In approximately two years the association lost over $20 million. The small companies were severly hurt by having to share this loss and in some cases it represented up to four per cent of surplus.

The recent bill which was signed into law on July 6, protects the small company from paying more than one per cent of its surplus in the losses of the association.

Using his own company as an example, Pangburn said that if the law had been in effect in 1970, Colonial would have paid $3,800 as its share instead of $16,000.

Pangburn paid special tribute to the contribution of Assemblyman H. Clark Bell who provided support throughout, and held discussions with Rockefeller on the deadline date of July 6.

The Last Man On Rock's 1st Team to Retire

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Agriculture Commissioner Don J. Wickham intends to retire soon and thus relinquish his unique status as the only remaining member of Gov. Rockefeller's original cabinet.

Wickham, who took office with Rockefeller in January 1959, confirmed reports Thursday that he is prepared to leave his $42,475-a-year state post.

The 67-year-old commissioner told The Associated Press that he notified Rockefeller of his intention during a private chat at the outset of the governor's fourth term, last January.

"I told him," Wickham said, "that I would stay through 1971 but that I wanted to leave after that. In any event, I promised to give six months' notice before retiring."

Wickham said he had not submitted his notice yet but was thinking of doing so around October. "I don't want to bother the governor during his vacation," he explained with a chuckle.

Sources in the governor's office said no thought had been given yet to a successor for Wickham. There will be no shortage of aspirants for the post, which not only offers the high salary but also cabinet-level prestige and a relatively tranquil working environment.

Wickham was among the 15 department heads whom Rockefeller selected to begin his first term with him 12½ years ago. Deaths, retirements and occasional cabinet re-shuffles gradually slimmed the ranks of survivors to one—Wickham—when the governor embarked on his fourth term.

Bogus Bracelets Seized by State

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Thousands of bracelets, advertised by a Westchester County firm as a cure for a wide variety of ailments, have been seized by state officials, who say the jewelry was ineffective in all its claims.

In announcing the seizure of 6,800 of the bracelets, the State Board of Pharmacy charged Afra Associated of Mount Vernon with trying to sell misbranded merchandise.

Albert J. Sica, secretary of the board, cautioned the public against the use of any device reputedly endowed with magical curative powers. He said the bracelets, advertised as "Aimante Magnetic Health Bands," would be destroyed.

The company claimed the bands had been proven scientifically and clinically to be "most effective for a wide variety of physical disorders induced by the malfunctions of the vascular as well as autonomous nervous system, such as stiff shoulder, muscular pain, constipation, exhaustion, insomnia and high blood pressure."

The bands were also advertised as having "proven effects for the preservation of health and youth of ordinary healthy people."

The expansion bracelets are worn around the wrist and contain six small magnets. Sica could make no estimate of the number of bands sold before his agency intervened.

Literature accompanying the devices indicated a retail price of $13.95.

Blight Spreads

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The corn blight, now reported in parts of 29 states, continues to be classified as only a light infestation, according to the latest government reports.

But the Agriculture Department's weekly bulletin on the situation said there are increasing reports of pockets of moderate to severe infection and further evidence that the potentially destructive disease has started to spread from field to field.

Cleon's Homer Snaps Mets' Losing Streak

ON TO JAMESTOWN — The Kingston Nationals, winners of last week's Babe Ruth District One All-Star Tournament, will be going to Jamestown Monday to compete in the state finals. Yesterday, the Kingston Rotary Club made a presentation to the League to help defray expenses for the trip. From left to right are George Ford, community service chairman of the Rotary, Bob Dawkins, accepting the gift for the Babe Ruth League and Wayne Jones, treasurer of the Kingston Rotary Club. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Cleon Jones lashed a two-run homer in the seventh inning and southpaw Tug McGraw hurled six innings of one-hit shutout relief to lead the New York Mets to a 9-4 victory over the Houston Astros Thursday night, breaking a six-game losing streak.

Jones' homer, his eighth of the season, came with the Mets trailing, 4-3, and rookie righthander Ken Forsch heading towards his sixth victory. With two out in the seventh, Tommie Agee singled off second baseman Joe Morgan's glove and Jones followed with a line drive into the upper deck in right field.

In other National League action, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the San Diego Padres, 4-3, in a 17-inning marathon. Chicago edged Philadelphia 7-6; Cincinnati downed San Francisco 2-1; Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 6-0 and St. Louis defeated Montreal 7-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before dropping the nightcap, 6-4.

There is just no escaping the long ball might of the Pittsburgh Pirates, no matter how many hours or innings you play.

The Padres found that out yesterday when they dropped the tilt to the Pirates after 17 innings, four hours and 12 minutes, on Roberto Clemente's home run.

Twice during extra innings the Padres took the lead only to have the Pirates bounce back to tie the score on a homer. In the 13th the Padres had a 2-1 lead, but Willie Stargell belted his 31st homer of the season with two out in the bottom of the inning to tie the score.

The winners tied it again in he 16th after the Padres took a 3-2 lead. This time, Richie Hebner hit a one-out solo shot. After going hitless for seven times at bat, Clemente brought the proceedings to a close with his solo homer.

Brewers Cap Yankees

By UPI

For the third time this season Dave May homered in the ninth innng at Yankee Stadium Thursday. But the first two times all he did was break up potential shutouts while his team, the Milwaukee Brewers, lost. This time it was different.

May's eighth round-tripper gave Milwaukee a 1-0 victory over the Yanks and Mel Stottlemyre behind the four-hit pitching of Marcellino Lopez and Ken Sanders.

In other American League games, the Orioles edged California, 4-3; Boston downed Minnesota, 3-0 in 13 innings; Oakland edged Detroit, 8-7; Kansas City nipped Clevelaund, 1-0; and Washington trounced Chicago, 8-3.

Pat Dobson recorded his eighth straight victory and 11th of the season as Baltimore beat California. He also singled in Mark Belanger with the deciding run to give the Birds a 4-2 lead in the seventh. The Angels added a run in the eighth.

Rico Petrocelli's three-run homer in the last of the 13th gave the Red Sox their victory over Minnesota. Petrocelli, who moved into a tie for the league leading RBI's, hit his 15th homer after Stan Williams walked Reggie Smith and Carl Yasterzemski with two out. Luis Tiant and Bob Lee combined for the shutout.

Dick Green's RBI single with two out in the bottom of the ninth capped a three-run rally and led Oakland past the Tigers. Detroit took a 7-5 lead with three runs in the eighth but Rick Monday led off the Oakland ninth with a homer and Mike Epstein walked. Dave Duncan singled home pinch-runner John Odom to tie the score and Green singled home Duncan with the winning run.

Trevino Trails Pack

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf's have-nots, as far as PGA victories this year are concerned, are dominating the Western Open Golf Tournament and if Lee Trevino doesn't make the cut after Friday's second round, the old tourney itself could become a have-not.

The streaking Trevino, winner of the U.S., Canadian and British Opens within the last month, found his iron shots flying spinlessly from the long fairway grass and struggled over the storied Olympia Fields course in three-over-par 74 Thursday.

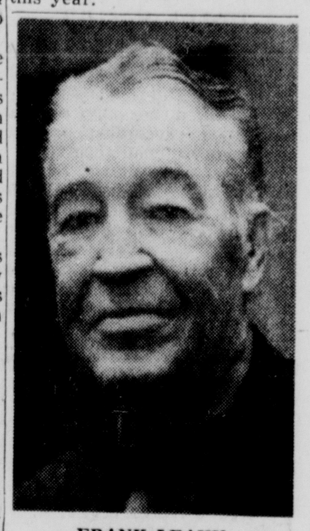

The effervescent Mexican-American, followed by most of the 11,100 galleryites, was eight strokes off the pace set by 35-year-old Bruce Crampton.

The Aussie veteran of the tour blazed in with a 66, one over the competitive course record, consuming only 26 putts. This included 11 one-putt greens and a remarkable string of sinking from 50, 35, 60, 14 and 12 feet before missing two successive four-footers.

"It's just fate when those long ones drop," said Crampton, whose last victory was the $250,000 Westchester Open last year. "But that's golf, and it takes a few like that to win a tournament. I'm in front, and I'm told the only way to win is to get in front and improve your position."

Looking over Crampton's shoulder with 67 were Tommy Aaron who has slowed his swing after missing two cuts in the last three weeks; Dale Douglass with 68 and a group at 69—Dick Lotz, Chuck Montalbano Bobby Greendood, Gay Brewer, Phil Rodgers and Bobby Brue.

None has won a tournament this year.

Plunkett Now Patriot

By United Press International

Jim Plunkett is relieved and Archie Manning is immobile.

Plunkett, the Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback from Stanford and the first player selected in the pro draft last January, Thursday signed with the New England Patriots. But Manning, the star quarterback from Mississippi and the second player chose in the draft, can only stand and watch as the New Orleans Saints' rookies go through their paces.

Manning still is in the middle of a contract hassle with the Saints cannot practice until he signs.

"I am very relieved," said Plunkett, who is in Chicago preparing for the College All-Star Game July 30. "I am looking forward to coming to Boston and working with Joe Kapp and learning the business of professional football."

Plunkett, a 6-foot-3, 207-pounder, said he was "satisfied" with the terms of the contract but added: "I can't discuss specifics."

Manning, meanwhile, continues in a strange stage with the Saints, a team without a first-string quarterback. "Archie told me by telephone that he had a social visit with Mr. (John) Mecom (Saints' owner) yesterday but certainly no negotiations took place," said Frank Crosthwait, Jr., Manning's agent. "Vic Schwenk (Saints' general manager) told us they were not interested in nothing less than a five-year contract and wanted us to reconsider their earlier proposal that we had already told them was unacceptable."

Manning is asking for a four-year contract worth $400,000 with provisions providing for an additional $200,000.

Elsewhere in the training camps, the San Francisco Forty Niners traded veteran defensive tackle Roland Lakes to the New York Giants for a future draft choice. Lakes, a 10-year veteran, is expected to fill the vacancy left with the loss of Jerry Shay, who has yet to recover from a broken leg suffered last season.

Chip Oliver, the linebacker who quit pro football a year ago to live in a commune, did not report to the Oakland Raiders, camp but said he would sign in with the veterans Sunday. Oliver, a vegetarian whose weight has dropped from 230 to 180, will attempt to make the team as a free safety.

Three veterans—running back Matt Snell, offensive tackle Winston Hill and defensive back John Dockery—were early arrivals at the New York Jets' camp and the Rams announced that running back Russell Harrison, a 13th-round draft choice from Kansas State, underwent surgery on his left knee for torn ligaments.

Black Woman Now Jockey

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Cheryl White has quietly become the first black woman jockey to race in the United States.

Miss White, 17 of Cleveland, received her apprentice license Wednesday from Thistledown Race Track stewards here without fanfare and a few hours later completed the fifth race of the day.

"We just gave her the license," steward William J. Cull said without embellishment.

Miss White has said her ambition from childhood was to race horses. She received intensive training in breaking horses from the gate and completed three probationary rides preliminary to obtaining the license.

In her first race Wednesday, she rode Lexilou a filly owned and trained by her father, Raymond A. White finishing fifth in the seven-horse field.

THAT'S NO COW — Mount Eden, a standard-bred pacer that was once judged worthless for Australian race tracks and sold for $600, was re-purchased at San Francisco's Cow Palace for $300,000, after breaking records in almost every Australian competition during the last two years. He was originally bought as a trotter but put into training as a pacer. In this class he won every stake in Australia, breaking every record he attempted. Even after breaking a pedal bone in one hoof a year ago, he surmounted recovery odds of 50-50 and broke the one-mile track record at the Addington Raceway. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Braves—Confused Issue

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON — Want to hear about a confusing situation? Try this one on for size!

The Kingston Braves are in first place of the Northern Division of the Hudson Valley Rookie League with a 9-2 record in round one. These same Kingston Braves are in a fourth place tie in the Northern Division of the Hudson Valley Rookie League with a 2-2 record in round two.

According to the league setup, the first round winner meets the second round winner for the Northern championship and the right to play the Southern survivor for the overall title. If one team wins both rounds then no playoff is necessary.

Thus, Kingston is assured of being in the playoff no matter what happens in round two, right? Wrong, because the first round is not as yet completed despite the fact that the second round is already underway.

"We have eight games to make up in the first round," says league spokesman Dick Becker, "and they all have a bearing on the standings."

So while Kingston battles to up its position in round two, it can still drop out of first place in round one if Poughkeepsie comes up with the necessary wins and if the Braves lose a game from round one or something like that.

At any rate, Kingston has an overall record of 11-4 and that's not too bad except that two of the defeats have come in the last three games and the pitching, brilliant until last weekend, has turned sour.

Ray Zappone was way off in his start and loss against Poughkeepsie and Jim Schomaker needed 17 runs to beat Beacon. In between, Tom Gallo was only so-so and the Braves lost to New Windsor.

Now with a week's rest behind them Kingston travels to Newburgh and Cornwall Saturday and Sunday.

Against the Nuclears tomorrow Kingston will be playing a twin-bill, the first of which counts in that first round and the second in the second round. Gallo and Zappone will pitch in Newburgh and Schomaker will go at Cornwall.

The other first rounder left for Kingston to play is at home versus Warwick and that's yet to be scheduled.

"I'm still very confident," says manager Bernie Schaeffer. "I think we have the best team that I've seen in the league. The pitching is inexperienced but it's been fine except for the last couple of games. A big plus for us is the return of Charlie Moore and I might use him this weekend. I'll see how he feels.

Moore was one of the Braves starters last season when they won the championship and since his return two weeks ago he's been used in the infield.

"We've had some problems with our fielding but the spirit is good, and I think we'll be OK," Schaeffer added.

The only deletion from the Kingston roster is the name of Bill Brady. The little infielder had to drop off the team for personal reasons.

Lions Stretch Lead In Babe Ruth League

KINGSTON — The Kingston Lions stretched their Babe Ruth American League lead to two and a half games Wednesday by ripping Chidsey DeForest, 13-1.

In other action, Miron whipped Rock Construction, 12-4, and the Knights of Columbus toppled Hurley, 5-0.

Tom Hines and Brian Shelightner combined to pitch a four-hitter as Kingston beat Chidsey. Bob Terwilliger had two hits including a homer.

Bill Costello was the loser.

Miron won the battle of the last place teams as it beat Rock. Despite a home run by Lee Geanuleas, Miron pitcher Rich Bell gained the win, giving up six hits and striking out four.

Phil Palladino started for Rock and fanned 11. But he was wild, walking seven and took the loss.

Mickey Watzka pitched a four hitter for the K of C as it topped Hurley. Charles Barton had three hits and two RBI's for the winners.

Joe Modica Scores

WOODSTOCK — When ever the occasion requires, Joe Modica responds to the challenge and confirms what ever golf buff in the county knows—he's currently the best golfer at Woodstock Country Club.

The recent winner of the President's Cup, Modica fired a 36-hole gross of 72-77-149 to wrap up the presigious Allen Waterous Memorial Tournament by a five-stroke margin over runnerup Alex Sharpe Jr. who carded 71-83-154.

Low net honors went to John Donovan, a 13-handicap player, who fashioned gross rounds of 81-76-157 his own ball. He fired four birdies enroute to net rounds of 68-63-132.

Modica fired a tro of 36's and 41 in his four trips around the scenic Woodstock layout. He bagged five birdies in all.

Sharpe, who trailed Donovan by one stroke for low net honors, fired 35-36-71 with four birdies and added 43-40-83 for net rounds of 72-60-132. He played with 11 handicap.

Dick Hajec, a 15-handicap player, had third low net with 67-55-133. Ray DuBois, who had a second round score of 37-37-74, finished fourth with 71-63-134.

Don Ferdon completed the prize list with 72-67-139. Floyd Perkins matched net par figures with 69-71-140.

The Waterous Memorial honors the memory of the late four-time Woodstock Country Club champion and benefactor. Two of his sons, William and Herbert Waterous, also won Woodstock championships.

Del Buss First At Speedway

MIDDLETOWN — Del Buss of Nazareth, Pa., became the eighth different modified driver to enter the winners' circle when he came in first at Orange County Fair Speedway on Saturday night.

There was no stopping the youthful driver as he held off the hard challenges of three-time winner Carl Van Horn and top runner Buzzy Reutimann and finally finished almost a half lap ahead of Reutimann, who wrested second from Van Horn in thrilling action.

Van Horn, in winning the first qualifying race for the modifieds, set a new single-lap record with a time of 24.2, erasing the old mark of 24.5 established last year by another driver.

Jerry Wilson won Saturday's Limited Sportsmen's Race.

Shamrock Nine Gains Victory

KINGSTON — Shamrock scored four times in the seventh inning to break a tie and beat Ferraro's, 9-6, in a National Division A City Slow Pitch game Wednesday evening at Hasbrouck Park.

In other action, Lincoln Park Inn downed Perry's Rest, 17-11; Esposito's Cleaners nipped the Rhinebeck Merchants, 6-3; and Garden of Eden turned back the Village Inn, 17-3.

Joe Hoffman and Joe Palen had three hits and Mike Amato rifled a home run as Shamrock picked up its triumph. Ferraro's was led by Chick Boice, who had two hits including a homer. Frank Spinnenweber popped a triple and Ron Thomas slammed a double for the losers.

Gary Barnes had three hits, Dan McGrane slugged two homers, and Don Van Keuren, Terry Concord, and Ron McCord hit solo roundtrippers for Lincoln Park. Eric Blackwell knocked out three hits and Joe Nalada homered for the losers.

A home run by Carl Hulle wasn't enough to propell Rhinebeck over Esposito's. John Tremper tripled for the winning team.

The 13-run rule stopped Garden of Eden's rout after three and a half innings. Sam Wilson had three hits including a homer and John Armstrong, Tim Bowens and Hobie Armstrong also hit home runs. Jimmy Lee added three hits for the winners. John Cook homered for Village Inn.

Soap Box Derby Sunday; Jaycees Sponsor Event

KINGSTON — The Third Annual Soap Box Derby in Kingston will be staged this Sunday, July 18. The course, from Forsyth Park down Lucas Avenue, will be blocked off at 10:25 a.m. and the time trials will begin at 10:30.

The event, sponsored by the Kingston Jaycees, will begin at 12:45 p.m. with the opening ceremonies. The race itself will start at 1 p.m., with the final run set for around 3 p.m. The awards presentation will be made at 3:15 p.m. and traffic will again be opened on Lucas Avenue at 3:30 p.m.

The Jaycees Derby committee will start work on the track at 6:30 a.m. and the impounding of cars for final race inspection will take place at 7:30 a.m.

Financial difficulties, and the transferral of the Derby Director to another state six weeks ago, almost forced the Jaycees to scrap this year's event. However, through the diligence and patience of the working members, the Derby program was saved. The Jaycees wish to extend an invitation to all area residents to attend the Derby Day program.

DR. ANGELOS V. PATSIS

Science Workshop At Paltz

NEW PALTZ

Scientists and engineers from throughout the United State are studying the use of the scanning electron microscope this week at the State University College at New Paltz.

A variety of other workshops are being offered at the college's annual Summer Institute in Science and Technology. Dr. Angelos V. Patsis, professor of chemistry at New Paltz and the Institute's director, said this summer's program is "equal to those offered by such prestigious universities as Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of California at Los Angeles."

Instructors for the courses at the Institute have come to New Paltz from the University of London, Bell Telephone Laboratories, IBM, General Electric and Lehigh University. University professors and government and industrial employes engaged in research in biology, medicine, new materials and other fields are among those attending the classes. The institute is being held at the nearby Lake Mohonk Mountain House.

The course on the theory and operation of the electron microscope, according to Dr. Patsis, has attracted scientists from throughout the United States. He added that IBM has made available its instruments for laboratory demonstrations of the scanning electron microscope, an instrument that has been particularly useful in the fields of medicine and new materials.

Other workshops offered at Institute include Electrical Properties of Plastics and Biological and Water Treatment Materials, both administered by the Center of Continuing Education at New Paltz.

Lecturers for the Summer Institute classes have come from such places as California Institute of Technology, Xerox Corporation, University of Michigan, Case Western Reserve, and the University of Massachusetts.

Dr. Patsis said that more than half of those attending are from New York State industries, medical institutions and universities, and that the central location of New Paltz in the mid-Hudson Valley provides an "excellent" site for this type of program. Patsis added that he believes that "New Paltz is the only campus in New York State engaged in extensive programs for up-dating scientists and engineers."

Red Hook Water Situation Not Critical, But...

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK

While the water situation in the Village of Red Hook is not critical, it is far from desirable, according to Clerk Francis Rabbett.

Speaking with The Freeman Thursday, he noted that the emergency curtailment of water usage has not yet been necessary this summer, as it was last year during a prolonged dry spell, but "we haven't a great amount of water."

He noted that the long, hot summer has thus far spared the village many rainstorms. "I think we've missed just about all of them," he said.

Measures have been taken since last summer in an effort to bolster the sagging supply, but none have proved overly successful.

The village drilled one new well last fall, but could get only about 16 gallons per minute. Another well has been regenerated without notable success. There are seven wells in the village system, and three of them are working presently with others played out or not worthwhile.

Rabbett said that the board is contemplating drilling another well in the near future as a contingency measure.

Another factor which has yet to be alleviated is the large water usage by Orchard Hill Farms, the largest private employer in the village which needs water for its frozen food processing.

Orchard Hill also has been trying diligently to find a good water supply, according to Rabbett.

One well drilled last year year yielded only 18 gallons per minute and yet another just finished a month ago brought in a puny five gallons per minute.

The water table is quite far down in this area. Orchard Hill had to go about 600 feet for its negligible return.

The frozen food factory has been on its annual summer vacation this past week, however, which has helped out. The clincher could come next week when the plant reopens Monday for production.

Another aspect of the water situation in Red Hook which has to be considered is the providing of the precious fluid to outlying areas, outside of the incorporated village limits.

In the report this spring from the New York State Deaprtment of Audit and Control there was reference to this : "The Village continued to supply water to Willow Park, a development outside the village limits, contrary to a supreme court ruling, upheld by the Appellate Court on May 10, 1960, which prohibited the sale of water to residents of the development."

Willow Park, to the immediate east of the village on Route 199, is a housing subdividion built in 1958 which has continuously received village water from that time.

Rabbett pointed out that there are other instances of village water going to persons outside the village "in practically every corner of the village, including a section on South Broadway."

While noting that the board feels it could not arbitrarily shut off water to outlying areas unless some dire emergency arose, other village officials have stated privately in the past that the Willow Park matter will be investigated under the new village board.

Another alternative, which will also be explored according to village sources, is some type of deal with another municipality. The Village of Rhinebeck to the south has a different type of water problem: a million-dollar plant running at less than 50 per cent capacity which causes water rates to be relatively high.

Meanwhile, village officials are scanning the horizon for telltale rainclouds to provide temporary relief to what has become an annual problem.

Paltz Officials Pleased By Results of State Audit

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

The results of the audit by the State Department of Audit and Control have been received by the Town of New Paltz, and Town Justice Rexford Schneider said "We came out plain clean."

That isn't completely correct, but it isn't far wrong.

The audit covered the period from Jan. 1, 1967 to Dec. 31, 1970, a period of four years. It was conducted by Examiners Albert J. Jansen, Patrick A. Carbone, and Michael J. Wolyniak, and approved by Principal Examiner James V. Kill.

During the period covered, Town Clerk and Collector Theodore Lasher was in office the whole time.

The report noted the total assessed valuation of the town was $18,128,293. Of this, $12,594,375 is wholly exempt from taxation (much of this is the college), and $478,800 is partially exempt. This leaves $5,054,118 wholly taxable.

Good points in the audit were: taxes levied were verified to determine whether they were in accordance with the sums authorized and they were, other revenues and receipts were properly received, disbursements with the exception of a few claims were done correctly, payrolls were properly certified and people were paid at the correct rate, expenditures were kept within the limits of appropriations, public assistance and care was administered properly, the oaths administered, and the official undertakings on file.

The few criticisms were minor. The report noted the town had some water rents to pay. These are the rents currently under discussion with the village as to the rate charged.

Certain claims were not properly certified, meaning someone forgot to sign the sheet in the right place. Monies were transferred between funds with different tax bases. Lasher said these transfers were just to save the interest of borrowing, and were always transferred back into the proper fund.

A surplus was set aside without a public referendum.

The town tried to give village residents a break by not charging them for snow removal in 1967, 1969, and 1970, but won't be able to do this in the future, according to Audit and Control.

The town justices should audit their funds more carefully, as they had more money on hand than they could account for.

Lasher and Town Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello said they would like to be audited more often than every four years as they found it very instructive.

Lasher felt quite good about the audit, and told The Freeman he was especially pleased it had turned out so well "considering how often they change the rules on us."

Much Progress Reported In Rhinebeck Negotiations

RHINEBECK

"Exceptional progress" in negotiations in the Rhinebeck Teachers Association - Board of Education contract impasse was cited as the reason for adjourning a public hearing Thursday evening of less than one minute's duration.

As soon as Board of Education members had seated themselves before the crowd of about 50 persons, mostly teachers, District Principal Ralph Steeves rose to address the group.

He said: "Mr. President—We have been negotiating up to the time of the commencement of this hearing relative to all matters covered by the fact-finder's report and have made exceptional progress in achieving common understanding and agreement.

"It is therefore requested jointly by the Rhinebeck Teachers' Association and the District Principal that this meeting be adjourned to a subsequent date called by the president upon three days notice to the president of the association."

After the Board declared the meeting adjourned, Steeves read a notice from RTA president Richard Clare asking that all teachers present remain for a meeting.

Negotiations continued for several hours Thursday, and it was stated at the brief open session that it was desired to fill in the teachers on the progress of the talks.

The fact-finder's report suggested a healthy increase in basic starting wage of the teacher with a bachelor's degree from the current $7,100, negotiated two years ago, to $7,800 with steps of 300.

It was anticipated at Thursday night's public hearing that all ramifications of the report would be discussed and a reaction given by Principal Steeves.

Red Hook Board Gets Fact-Finder's Report

RED HOOK

Red Hook District Principal Russell Keefe told The Freeman Thursday night that the PERB fact-finder's report had been received by the administration and Board of Education that day, although no specific information could yet be released on it.

Joel Douglas, Tarrytown, was both the mediator and fact-finder in the dispute between the Red Hook Teachers' Association and the Board of Education.

Some of the unresolved area when impasse was declared were enumerated by William Donnelly of the RHTA as class size, student day, salaries, increased curriculum coordination, and the hiring of two full-time reading teachers.

Donnelly said Thursday night that he was "not yet in receipt of the fact-finder's report."

Keefe said that the procedure from this point may vary in accordance to future successes of continuing negotiations. He described a five-day period of review during which both sides study the report.

Keefe said that during this five-day period there would be no releases of specific information by anyone except the factfinder, and not by him if requested by either side.

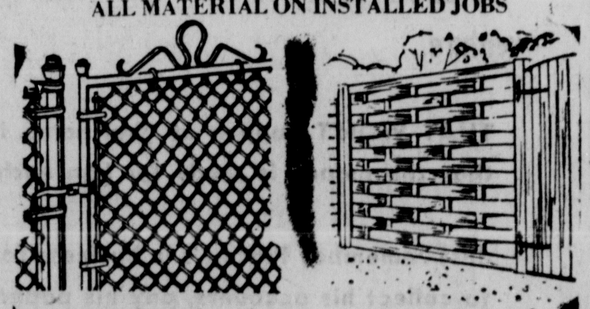

If future negotiations prove to be successful, no report would be released at all. If nothing has been resolved by the end of the five days, a legislative public hearing must be held discussing the ramifications of the impasse.

Keefe said he had not yet had sufficient time to study the document, but thought that some contact with the RHTA would be forthcoming in the near future.

Proper Care Keeps Windows Working

Not all of us live in sealed, totally air-conditioned buildings. For most of us windows are still things we open on a hot day, close when it rains or gets cold.

Sometimes opening and closing aren't easy and then we roast, get wet or freeze.

Whether or not a window works properly is something few of us worry about until it is too late. That's when the struggle begins.

Windows are little different from other working items around the home in that maintenance is easier than repair. Generally, when moving parts are involved, lubrication is the key to proper care.

An assortment consisting of paraffin, grease stick, powdered graphite and an oil can with a flexible spout will take care of most anything. It's a pretty good collection for lubrication generally.

Use the grease stick on the window slides. A little goes a long way and lasts for some time. Sliding parts can be brushed with melted paraffin. The double-hung window should be lubricated on the pulley stiles (these are the slots in which the window slides) and on the stop beads (the wood strips that keep the window in place).

To expose the pulleys pull down the top half of the window. Lubricate the pulled shafts with oil or graphite.

Casement windows are easier so far as window frames are concerned. There is no sliding. But pay attention to the special opening mechanisms. These crank or slides should be kept lubricated with oil and graphite.

Painting always creates headaches where windows are concerned. A seal of hardened paint is not fun. Maybe you thought that since you had no trouble immediately and the paint is no longer new there will be no problem.

Dampness can cause wood to swell and paint to get soft. The combination is not good and when the paint hardens the windows are sealed shut.

Work gently and slowly and from the outside if possible. Try working the paint loose with a putty knife worked under the bottom of the sash. If the putty knife doesn't work, try a chisel or knife carefully run around the edges e of the sash.

If you must work from the inside use a chisel and a mallet, inserting the chisel into the hardened paint and tapping lightly. Work slowly and carefully.

If all else fails, remove the molding that holds the sash in place. Pry off gently so that you don't crack or break it. Sand the edges.

With the window open, lubricate the exposed surfaces. If you have had to sand way the paint, give the surfaces a coat of linseed oil.

Temperature Range Crucial to Tomatoes

Blossom drop or poor fruit set is one of the worst problems facing the tomato grower. Largely this is caused by adverse weather, such as night temperatures below 60 degrees, abnormally hot weather, low soil moisture, excessive shade and certain diseases.

Peppers and eggplant are subject to the same trouble.

The simplest remedy is to select varieties that set fruit under a wide temperature range. In recent years, a number of good varieties also resistant to Verticillium wilt have been introduced.

Experts recommend among tomato varieties Fireball VR, Gardener-67 and New Yorker. All will set in cool periods and are resistant to Verticillium wilt.

Regular Fireball is a good early producer but is not resistant to the Verticillium fungus that often builds up in home gardens where tomatoes are grown every year, or where other susceptible crops such as eggplant, potatoes and strawberries are grown.

The early varieties produce good yields of medium-sized tomatoes if young, stocky transplants without flowers or fruit are planted.

Plant early and later varieties for a steady supply of tomatoes over a long season.

Other favored varieties are Moreton Hybrid (midseason); Glamour, Big Boy and Rutgers (late). These produce good fruit but are not resistant to Verticillium wilt.

Good substitute hybrids are the mid-season Springset and Spring Giant and late varieties Jet Star and Burpee VF. Other good late one are Heinz 1350 and Campbell 1327, which are widely grown commercially. They are Verticillium wilt-resistant but not recommended for canning.

As a change of pace, early cherry-type tomatoes such as Tiny Tim and Early Salad are suggested. Small Fry is wilt resistant.

Lower in acid content than some red tomatoes are the yellow Sunray and Jubilee.

You may be referring to some large, meaty varieties of tomatoes as 'beefsteak.' Actually these are Ponderosas, pink, large-fruited tomatoes of good eating quality — late in maturing and low in yield.

How many tomato plants do you need? For an average family, two early and three late-maturing plants should be plenty, since a healthy plant can yield 60 tomatoes, depending on growing conditions.

Ways to Prevent Home Burglaries

The day is coming when we may feel absolutely protected in our homes. Our sense of security may be insured by some deluxe alarm system that costs thousands of dollars, and we'll consider the expenditure worth it, or it may be a foolproof inexpensive system that can be installed by a do-it-yourselfer.

Many advances in home security are being made possible by modern technology, says Leo J. Pantas, vice-president of a company specializing in security systems.

In addition to the many-faceted alarms that perform services — calling police, protection agencies, relatives — some alarms detect smoke and fire. Other alarms will ring bells, switch on flood lights or sound sirens. Bell emergency systems can react with a loud gong when a door or window is opened and these can be installed by a do-it-yourselfer within minutes.

The basic lock and key is the heart of any security system, Pantas points out. The same basic lock, a principle used in Ancient Egypt, unlocks the White House, Notre Dame Cathedral, a harem in Bhuten and imperial palaces around the world.

But there is no such thing as a perfect lock, he says. Two million burglaries reported last year "seems to indicate that a device engineered by man can be undone by intruders."

Here are some of his suggestions to prevent theft:

Checks your doors. If the door is hung poorly and the gap is too wide at the lock, it will make things easier for any burglar.

Check locks. A mortise type lock does about the best single job. A pin tumbler lock of good quality has a trigger guard on the bolt. This prevents the sliding of the bolt by a wire slipped into the opening. Bolts and chains add to safety.

Change cylinders on locks when you move to a new home or apartment, or if your keys are lost or stolen.

Back doors should be as solidly locked as front doors.

If there is glass near the door lock, use a lock that requires a key on both sides of the door.

Windows should be securely locked and there are a number of devices that prevent them from being opened.

Treat your keys as you would a roll of hundred dollar bills. In someone else's hands they are worth that and more. Duplicating keys is one way burglars have gained easy access.

Newer type "keys," considered the first major improvement in keys in 103 years, are now being used in business, institutions and some homes and are just about foolproof. They are connected with binary-coded electronic circuits, and cannot be duplicated without the combined talents of an electronic expert and a computer technician. Such keys can be voided at a logic control to keep people out when they aren't wanted or to permit them to enter at the key owner's discretion.

But anyone planning an expensive security system should investigate the company. Check with friends or the Better Business Bureau.

Extension Service Warning on Earwigs

KINGSTON — The earwig, a common pest of flowers, vegetables and plant beds, has invaded Ulster County warns the Cooperative Extension Service headquartered on John Street.

The insects are general feeders on vegetation but will also feed on filth and all kinds of stored food. Often, they will enter the home, causing annoyance but little damage. They often breed in enormous numbers in grass clippings and migrate from there to gardens or into the home.

The insects come in various shades of browns with the adults ranging in size from a half inch to three quarters of an inch. Earwigs are readily recognized by the forcep-like structure they bear at the end of the abdomen.

The insects hide during the day but roam actively at night. Control is most effective this time of year. Several treatments of either Chlordane, Malathion or Carbaryl (Sevin) may be needed. Do not apply chlordane to edible crops, the Extension Service warns.

Malathion and Carbaryl may be applied to garden vegetables. Do not apply Malathion less than seven days before harvest; Carbaryl, less than three days before harvest.

Control earwigs in the home by applying the above mentioned insecticides around entrances, baseboards and cracks. Household aerosal "bombs" containing one or more of the above mentioned chemicals are convenient for indoor use. Other chemicals, especially pyrethium are often found in these aerosal containers. This particular chemical increases knockdown and is very safe to humans.

Further information is available from William H. Palmer, county extension headquarters, 74 John Street, Kingston.

Herbicide Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government panel's recommendation that a weed killer suspected of posing a birth-defect hazard be cleared for public sale has drawn sharp criticism from a Boston scientist.

"The report is in gross contradition to other scientific reports ... it uses assumptions that cannot be substantiated," Dr. Samuel Epstein, a researcher at Harvard Medical School and the Children's Hospital Medical Center of Boston, said Wednesday.

The Agriculture Department issued notices last year proposing cancellation of federal registration of the chemical—2, 4, 5-T—for use around the home near water, and on food crops after indications it had caused birth defects in laboratory animals.

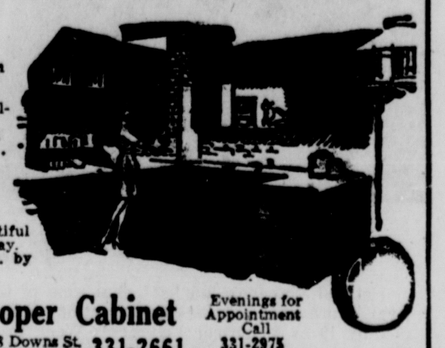

Dow Chemical Co. and Hercules, Inc., which manufacture the chemical, exercised appeal rights to refer the decision to review by a panel of nine scientists.

Epstein unveiled the panel's report still held confidential by the Environmental Protection Agency, at a news conference called by consumer advocate Ralph Nader's Center for the Study of Responsive Law.

The review committee concluded current use patterns and "the known fate" of 2, 4 5-T in the environment "are such that any accumulation that might constitute a hazard to any aspect of human health is highly unlikely."

The committee said large doses of the chemical could cause birth defects but said aspirin, caffein nicotine and organic mercury pose a similar hazard.

The committee said, however, that the compound should bear a conspicuous warning that it might be dangerous to pregnant women and animals.

HAWAII-BOUND — Most brides-to-be would like a Hawaiian honeymoon and Fifi, the Seattle Woodland Park Zoo's 18-year-old gorilla, seems to be contemplating hers during a bridal shower given to her three days before her departure for the Honolulu Zoo and a meeting with Congo and Cameroun, the gorilla inhabitants there. Infared Camera In Adirondacks

NEWCOMB, N.Y. (UPI) —A state police helicopter equipped with an infrared camera planned more flights over sections of the heavily wooded Adirondack Mountains today in the hunt for a Syracuse area boy missing since last weekend.

On the ground, more than 300 volunteers worked in 10-15 man search parties in an expanding search pattern in the area around Moose Pond.

The infrared camera employs a heat-sensing device. When photographs are developed, troopers are able to see "hot spots" indicating areas of different temperatures. With such a camera, the heat emitted by a person could stand out in the forest.

The initial series of flights Thursday yielded photographs but no clues as to the whereabouts of Douglas J. Legg of Baldwinsville.

Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Legg, disappeared while following an uncle through the woods Saturday. The uncle told him to return to the cabin where he was staying because of poison ivy along the trail.

Searchers, numbering a few dozen in early week, swelled above 300. Many spent the nights in the homes of Newcomb's 1,200 residents while some spent time in the town hall and others were quartered at the high school.

Housewives, led by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Newcomb Fire Department, prepared food in the town hall. The food was flown into the dense woods surrounding this Essex County community by helicopter to searchers.

In the Syracuse area, the Liverpool school district where the boy's father is employed as a science subject supervisor, officials provided bus transportation to carry volunteers to the search area.

Authorities Seek Identity Of Dead Girl Called Debbie

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Debbie was one of the thousands of street people wandering the nation, marching to her own drummer, trying to escape her own private devils.

But Debbie—maybe it was Debra, or Deborah—is dead. She died earlier this week from injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident.

The anonymity she sought when she left home at the age of 14 followed her into death at 21.

Her body is in the Medical Examiner's office here. No one has claimed her. Except for her friends in the street in Virginia Beach, and police assigned to track down her family, no one else knows or seemingly cares that she is dead.

According to Virginia Beach Traffic Sgt. Kenneth A. Belangia, Debbie spent the last four years wandering about the streets of that resort city. She used only her first name, adopting the last name of her changing list of boy friends.

Belangia has been told to find her family. So far, he has traced leads to Pueblo, Colo., Fayetteville, N.C., Omaha, Neb., Portland, Maine, Catonsville, Md., and elsewhere. No luck.

"I'll keep working on this thing until I exhaust every lead," he said.

Belangia said Debbie's fellow street people in Virginia Beach don't know much about her. Or say they don't.

In her room Belangia found only a few clothes and a note saying she would meet a boy friend outside a restaurant on June 26.

On July 1, Debbie was picked up by a strange sailor on a motorcycle.

A few minutes later a small truck belted the cycle from behind. Debbie was thrown backwards onto the truck's hood. She slipped off into the street, head first.

She was in a coma until she died Tuesday.

Report Injuries In City Mishaps

KINGSTON

Two persons were injured Thursday afternoon in separate traffic accidents investigated by Kingston Police.

Cars operated by Clara M. Van Steenburg, 73, of 336 Foxhall Avenue, and Mark E. Ten Eyck, 19, of 1 Main Street, Hurley, collided on Albany Avenue at Roosevelt Avenue at 3:45 p.m. The youth told police the other vehicle slowed down and his car skidded into the rear of the Van Steenburg vehicle.

Theresa C. DeWitt, 66, of 112 Ten Broeck Avenue, a passenger in the Van Steenburg car, sustained possible injuries of the neck, back and right knee.

A 13-year-old boy was injured early Thursday afternoon when his bicycle was involved in a collision with a car on Harding Avenue about 75 feet north of Albany Avenue, according to police.

John Amarello, 42, of 42 Harding Avenue, told police he was driving his car south on Harding Avenue when the boy, Glenn Brooks of 97 Hinsdale Avenue, rode from an auto agency lot from behind parked vehicles directly in the path of his car.

The bicycle was hit and the boy fell to the ground. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance and treated for bruises of the left arm and left leg.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, July 17

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have a day and evening when it is best to utilize this day to eliminate many of the tasks and duties that confront you. Attend to financial and material interests so that you have much more free time in the days ahead. Pleasure would only be casual so get duties behind you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Property matters need attention right now. You are able to aid those who need your assistance. Plan a budget that will be more suitable to your present needs. Show that you have good common sense.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find the right articles for your wardrobe and improve your appearance and plan for greater success in the future. Take an interest in the needs of a good friend. Good night for a movie.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are able to handle private matters with true intellect now, so concentrate on doing this. Make good plans for the week ahead. Get in touch with associates and discuss important affairs.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need aid of good friends for personal projects you have in mind. A group affair could be just the right activity for you now. Visit with a good friend you have not seen in a long time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to revamp your work procedures so that you become more efficient and gain greater benefits. Impress higher-ups with the fact that you are a good citizen. Avoid one who has ideas you don't like.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have fine new ideas but must study the details before putting them into operation. Making new contacts with experts in field that interests you is fine. Much discussion brings right results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many obligations to handle now and can do so efficiently so you have more free time for recreation and cultural aims. Don't pick on mate's faults so much. Show that you are practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You want to argue with an associate over a business matter, but do something constructive about it instead. One who opposes you does a lot of needling, but take it in stride. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) With all that work ahead, you want to run away from it. This would cause you much trouble later on. Delve right into it and you find it even gives you pleasure. Improve your health through treatments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are in a mood for fun now and this is fine provided you do not spend too much money. Do those errands for mate. Evening can be a happy time. A sense of humor helps.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try not to do anything that will add to problems at home just because you are not feeling up to par. You have some fine ideas. Study them well so that you have success with them soon. Show that you have wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Come to a true understanding with associates and work along with them harmoniously. The result could be better mutual benefits in the future. Much care in travel is necessary.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those practical young people who wants to have much money and security early in life. If formal college education does not appeal to your youngster, permit to follow own inclinations which could lead to a big fortune through practical methods. There is much sensitivity in this nature, so give the right religious training early and do not discipline too much. The artist, the pioneer, the inventor is in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Dog days is a name given to the hottest period of summer, approximately July 3 to August 11. The World Almanac says the name is derived from ancient times when observers in the Mediterranean countries reckoned the hottest season of the year from 20 days before to 20 days after the conjunction of Sirius, the Dog Star, and the sun.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NOT SO OFTEN: (Comment) My boy friend and I were arguing all the time. We decided it was because we were seeing too much of each other. We agreed to have dates less often.

I got a part-time job and so did he. This keeps us busier than we used to be.

Now, when he calls and says, "I'm coming over," or, "Do you want to go out?" I really look forward to it and have a good time.—Better Now in Fall River, Mass.

(A.) Thank you for a recipe that has been tested and proved over and over and that still works well for most couples who need it and try it.

BUYER: (Q.) I am a female, age 15, and I'm not freakish, although some people say I am. You see, if I like a girl I'll buy her some clothes and pay her way to the show.

I bought my best girl friend a pair of hot pants. After I did, she made fun of me in front of our friends. I had a talk with her. She said she was just playing. But it hurt me just the same.

How can I break my habit of buying things for other girls? I like having them as friends but don't want to be real close any more. I have lots of boy friends. — Trying to Change in Detroit.

(A.) You have already learned at least four lessons which all teens have to learn to become mature adults:

(1.) You can't buy friends.

(2.) Doing nice things for people doesn't insure that they will be nice to you.

(3.) Getting too close to people doesn't always work out.

(4.) It is easy to be misunderstood.

Now you have to learn another one: People like you for what you are—not for what you give them.

From now on, let your actions, not your gifts, speak for you.

'Funny Side' Saved Actress

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The life of a television performer can sometimes be a case of feast or famine as actress Patte Finley will testify.

When you're a regular in a series, the money rolls in. And when you're canceled the checks stop arriving.

In 1969 Patte made "From a Bird's-Eye View," which is now being shown on NBC. "I was Mrs. Gotrocks that year all over Europe," she said.

In 1970 she made exactly $1,750 and her only job was a guest shot on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." She said, "People ask me how I lived. Cheaply. No, off my savings. It was not the best of years. I got all my U.S. federal income tax back. My accountant, who charged me $250 the year before, offered to do it free."

Patte — pronounced Pat—is now taping NBCs 'The Funny Side" which will take a humorous look at the American way of life.

"If I hadn't got 'The Funny Side' I think I would have just given up," she said. But even at the beginning of this year things began to look up. She got another guest shot on the Moore show and did several commercials as "your average Mrs. Housewife."

She is also cast as a housewife on "The Funny Side." In fact, as the Middle America wife of a blue collar worker. Everyone in the cast will represent a stereotype. "We're trying to show the funny side of what's happening in America today," she said.

Patte daughter of a Supreme Court judge in the state of Washington, got her start Off Broadway 12 years then landed parts in 'Kiss Me Kate," "Damn Yankees," "the Unsinkable Molly Brown" and other stage shows. Her big break came when she got the second lead in "Hello, Dolly!" during the show's second year and stayed with it through the fourth year.

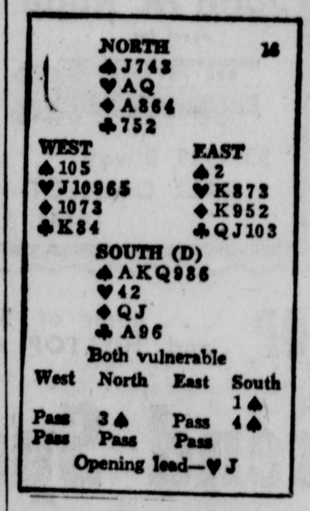

Patte who is only 5-foot-2 but has a laugh loud enough to start a landslide, said, "I was very commercial because I sang danced and did comedy. I was saleable. I was standing on the right side of the door when saleability was handed out. But I worked and studied hard.

"I've done well in show business," she said. "I've made a lot of money. I've got the jewels and the fur coats and I've bought land. But it's a terribly insecure business. If you're smart enough to make money you had better save some of it."

Bridge

South Distracted by Lady

By Oswald and James Jacoby

"These JACOBY MODERN light raisers are for the birds," grunted South. "I had 17 high-card points and a solid six-card suit. You raised me to three and I couldn't make my contract."

"Couldn't is not the correct wording," replied North. "As a matter of fact my hand was too good. Take away my queen of hearts and even you would not have managed to get set."

South had not bothered to use the code word "ARCH" at trick one. A Count of winners and losers would have shown him that with both the heart and diamond finesses wrong he would only score nine tricks if he tried the luxury of a heart finesse. How could he make the hand? By refusing the heart finesse!

South did play the queen of hearts. East took his king and led back the queen of clubs. Later on South lost two clubs and a diamond.

Make that queen of hearts in dummy a small heart. South would rise with the ace since there would be no temptation. He would cash his ace and king of trumps and lead the queen of diamonds for a finesse. East would win with his king, cash the king of hearts and shift to a club, but it would be too late to get two club tricks. South would win the trick; play his good jack of diamonds, enter dummy with the jack of trumps and discard one losing club on the diamond ace.

Cong Thwarted in Ammo Raid

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong commandos tried to blow up an ammunition dump in South Vietnam's northern quarter for the second time in a month but guards killed one of the raiders and the rest fled before planting any explosives, military spokesmen said today.

ELLSBERG CONFRONTATION — Dr. Daniel Ellsberg (C) protects his wife Patricia (R) as he pushes away demonstrator (L) carrying placard in shape of a cross who was shouting and pushing toward them as they enter federal building in Boston, Thursday. One of Ellsberg's attorneys, Attorney Leonard B. Boudin (L, wearing glasses) also pushes cross. Ellsberg and his attorneys appeared in court to try and dismiss a warrant asking for his extradition to California to stand trial for leaking the Pentagon papers to the press. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The announcement of the incident at Quang Tri came as President Nguyen Van Thieu acknowledged President Nixon's projected trip to Peking saying, "I hope this constitutes a first step toward elaboration of a lasting peace for this part of the world."

The South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry said it was "an expression of the good will of the United States to broaden and normalize its relations with all nations irrespective of political and social systems in an effort to consolidate world peace."

The Viet Cong managed to get through the outer defensive perimeter late Thursday night at the Quang Tri ammunition dump, also raided June 23. Guards opened fire with machineguns when they tried to climb a fence. One American was wounded in the exchange of gunfire as the raiders fled. The body of one Viet Cong was found hanging on the fence.

The Communists blew up 600 tons of ammunition in the previous raid on the dump, near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The Viet Cong raid followed the heaviest day of fighting in South Vietnam in more than two weeks. One American was killed and three were wounded in the day's action. Allied commands said 53 Communists were killed in the fighting.

Military spokesmen said two more American helicopters were shot down, one in Cambodia and the other in South Vietnam.

Both helicopters were OH6 "Loach" observation choppers. One was shot down 14 miles southwest of Quang Tri City and the other was hit and crashed in Prey Veng Province in Cambodia. One American was wounded in the Cambodian crash.

Helicopter gunships killed 12 guerrillas in separate clashes Thursday southeast of the abandoned base at Khe Sanh in the northwest corner of South Vietnam and northeast of Pleiku in the Central Highlands.

One American was killed and two wounded when a North Vietnamese force attacked an element of the Americal Division in the mountains west of Quang Ngai, 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Guerrilla Chiefs, Sadat Confer

By United Press International

Palestinian guerrilla chieftains conferred today at an Egyptian seaside resort with leaders of four Arab nations, including President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. The guerrillas arrived after accusing King Hussein's government of massacres against commandoes in the latest fighting in Jordan.

The Middle East News Agency (MENA) said the delegation led by Abou Iyyad, deputy to Al Fatah guerrilla leader Yaser Arfat unexpectedly flew to Egypt Thursday.

Sadat, Libyan Premier Moammar Khadafy, Syrian Vice President Mahmoud A-Ayyoubi and Zein Abdel Kader of the Sudan met throughout the day and were later joined by the Palestinians, MENA said.

The arrival of the guerrilla leaders followed a Jordanian government statement that Arab commandoes had been driven out of their northern strongholds and moved into new areas.

The guerrillas earlier had appealed to Arab heads of state to halt alleged "new massacres" against the resistance movement.

The four nations meeting in the Mediterranean summer resort of Mersa Matruh are all members of the Tripoli Pact and Egypt, Syria and Libya are founders of the projected Federation of Arab Republics.

The resort of Mersa Matruh is 155 miles west of Alexandria.

Priest Suspended

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—A controversial "farmworkers' priest" was suspended Thursday by the Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego for using corn tortillas as the communion wafer in the mass.

Father Victor Salandini, who has been saying mass for striking members of Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, was ordered to stop offering mass, hearing confessions and preaching.

Bishop Leo T. Maher, who had issued five warnings to the defiant priest, suspended Salandini after he ignored an order to stop using corn tortillas instead of bread made of wheat as the host during the singing of Mass.

"You can well understand my obligation to see that you abide by the rules and regulations laid down by the Church in reference to the liturgy," Maher said in a letter handed to the priest by a representative of the San Diego Diocese.

"This action is due entirely to your disobedience in refusing to use mass vestments, but, in their place, wearing the UFWOC Black Eagle insignia and offering mass in places and areas where you have been forbidden to do so.
